

I oppose it, but if we are to have internet access over the power line grid, please be sure to notch filter the radio amateur bands so as to allow their continued use by licensed operators. There is little if any doubt that this is necessary based on test results in Scandanavia and elsewhere.